People Who Whistle.

"Most people look upon whistling as a nuisance," said Herbert C. Sutliffe, "but there is no doubt that a whistling man has a good deal to recommend him. I have a friend who is a warden in a large penitentiary, and he states that in all his long experience he never knew a habitual whistler condemned to a term in the institution, and he says, moreover, that although the rules as to quiet and order are frequently broken he never remembers to have heard an attempt at a musical whistle within the terrible looking walls of the institution. Whistling seems to be the natural safety valve of good spirits and satisfaction, and the grumbling man couldn't whistle if he tried.

"I had a man to work for me once who was a model in every respect except that he kept my teeth constantly on edge by a series of whistling solos of anything but a cheerful character, although the good man was evidently trying to reproduce the latest operatic hits. I broke him of the habit by continuous scolding, but the man became so idle and indifferent in consequence that I was very glad to encourage him to resume a habit which at first had given me so much annoyance. I try to get out of the way when the spirit moves him to announce in whistling tones some important or romantic event, but I am perfectly certain that as long as he whistles he will work as hard as his hands and arms will let him."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Trouble With a Cold.

"'S'matter?"

"I got an awful cold," replied Colonel Morney.

"Have you"——

"Yes, I have. I have polished my bronchial tubes with 'Conlin's Consumption Coughine."

"No, but have you"——

"Yes! Course I have. I've had goose grease rubbed all over my throat and chest, and I"——

"But, I say hold on, have you"——

"I tell you there's nothing I haven't tried. I took a hot bath, drank a pint of boiling lemonade and rubbed my hide almost off with Mustang liniment, but"——

"Now, listen! Have you"——

"Yes, I have. Tried them all, but they're no good. Why, last night I"——

"That's all right, but have you"——

"Have I what?"

"Have you time to go over to Flynn's and have something?"

"Why the deuce didn't you talk sense at the start?" responded the colonel. "I'm with you."—Exchange.

Colors of Sapphires.

Sapphires have of late years become fashionable gems. The blue of the sapphire is very seldom pure or spread over the whole substance of the stone. Sometimes it is mixed with black, which gives it an inky appearance, sometimes with red, which, although imperceptible by daylight, yet by artificial light gives it an amethystine appearance. Two sapphires which by daylight may appear of the same hue often differ extremely in color at night. If the stone be held in an ordinary pair of forceps an inch beneath the surface of very clear water, the parts of the stone colored and uncolored will be distinctly apparent. This remark applies to all other gems.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Poverty of Printed Language.

"God will keep up his end of the row if you give him a chance." That was the language used by Moderator Craig in his sermon, which had direct reference to the controversies before the general assembly. As it appears in print the sentence requires an expository note. Whether the word "row" rhymes with "how" or "hoe" becomes an important question.—Washington Star.

Strength of the Horse.

A horse can draw on the worst kind of earth road about four times as much as he can carry on his back. On a good macadamized road he can pull 10 times as much; on a plank road 25 times as much, and on a street railway 58 times as much.—Chicago Journal.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

He Says Gold and Silver Must Part Company, and Wants the Sherman Law Repealed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—To the Congress of the United States:—The existence of the alarming and extraordinary business situation, involving the welfare and prosperity of all our people, has constrained me to call together in extra session the people's representatives in congress, to the end that through the wise and patriotic exercise of a legislative duty, with which they solely are charged, the present evils may be mitigated and the dangers threatening the future may be averted. Our unfortunate financial plight is not the result of untoward events, nor of conditions related to our natural resources; nor is it traceable to any of the afflictions which frequently check the national growth and prosperity. With plenteous crops, with abundant promise of a remunerative production and manufactures, with an unusual invitation to safe investment, and with satisfactory assurance to business enterprise, suddenly a financial distrust and fear have sprung up on every side. Numerous moneyed institutions have suspended, because abundant assets are not immediately available to meet the demand of FRIGHTENED DEPOSITORS.

Surviving corporationg and individuals are content to keep in hand the money. They are usually anxious to loan, and those engaged in legitimate business are surprised to find that the securities they offer for loans, though heretofore satisfactory, are no longer accepted. Values supposed to be fixed are fast becoming conjectural, and loss and failure have invaded every branch of business. I believe these things are principally

CHARGEABLE TO CONGRESSIONAL LEGISLATION

Touching the purchase and coinage of silver by the general government. This legislation is embodied in a statute passed on the 14th day of July, 1890, which was the culmination of much agitation on the subject involved, and which may be considered a truce after a long struggle between the advocates of free silver coinage and those who were more conservative.

Undoubtedly by the monthly purchases by the government of 4,500,000 ounces of silver forced under that statute was regarded by those interested in silver production as a certain guarantee of its increase in price. The result, however, has been entirely different; for immediately following a spasmodic and slight rise, the price of silver began to fall after the passage of the act, and has since reached the lowest point ever known.

This disappointing result has led to a renewed and persistent effort in the direction of free silver coinage.

Meanwhile not only are the evil effects of the operation of the present law constantly accumulating, but the result to which its execution must inevitably lead is becoming palpable to all who give the least heed to financial subjects.

CONCERNING TREASURY NOTES.

This law provides that in payment for the 4,500,000 ounces of silver bullion, which the secretary of the treasury is commanded to purchase monthly, there shall be issued treasury notes, redeemable on demand in gold or silver coin, at the discretion of the secretary of the treasury, and that said notes may be reissued.

It is, however, declared in the act to be "the established policy of the United States to maintain the two metals upon a parity with each other upon the present legal ratio, or such ratio as may be provided by law."

This declaration so controls the action of the secretary of the treasury as to prevent his exercising the discretion nominally vested in him, if by such action the parity between gold and silver may be disturbed. Manifestly the refusal by the secretary to pay these treasury notes in gold, if demanded, would necessarily result in their discredit and depreciation, as obligations payable only in silver would destroy the parity between the two metals by establishing a discrimination in favor of gold.

Up to the 15th day of July, 1893, these notes had been issued in payment of silver bullion purchased to the amount of more than $147,000,000, while all but a very small quantity of this bullion remains uncoined and without usefulness in the treasury. Many of the notes given in its purchase have been paid in gold. This is illustrated by the statement that between the 1st day of May, 1892, and the 15th day of July, 1893, notes of this kind issued in payment for silver bullion amounted to a little more than $54.000,000, and that during the same period about $49,000,000 were paid by the treasury in gold for the redemption of such notes so issued.

THE INVASION OF THE GOLD RESERVE.

The policy necessarily adopted of paying these notes in gold has not spared a gold reserve of $100,000,000, long ago set aside by the government for the redemption of other notes, for this fund has already been subject to the payment of new obligations amounting to about $150,000,000 on account of silver purchases, and has as a consequence for the first time since its creation been encroached upon.

We have thus made the depletion of our gold easy and have tempted other and more appreciative nations to add it to their stock. That the opportunity we have offered has not been neglected is shown by the large amounts of gold which have been recently drawn from our treasury and exported to increase the financial strength of foreign nations.

The excess of exports of gold over its imports for the year ending June 30, 1893, amounted to more than $87,500,000. Between the 1st day of July, 1890, and and the 15th day of July, 1893, the gold coin and bullion in our treasury decreased more than $132,000,000, while during the same period silver coin and bullion in the treasury increased more than $147,000,000. Unless government bonds are to be constantly issued and sold to replenish our exhausted gold, only again to be exhausted, it is apparent that the operation of the silver purchase law now in force leads in the direction of the entire substitution of silver for gold in the government treasury, and that this must be followed by a payment of all government obligations in depreciated silver.

GOLD AND SILVER MUST PART COMPANY.

At this stage gold and silver must part company, and the government must fail in its established policy to maintain the two metals on a parity with each other.

Given over to the exclusive use of a currency greatly depreciated according to the standard of the commercial world, we could no longer claim a place among the nations of the first-class, nor could our government claim the performance of its obligations, so far as such obligation has been imposed upon it, to provide for the use of the people the best and safest money.

If, as many of the friends claim, silver ought to occupy the largest place in our currency and the currency of the world, through general international co-operation and agreement, it is obvious that the United States will not be in a position to gain a hearing in favor of such an arrangement so long as we are able to continue our attempt to accomplish the result single handed.

The knowledge in business circles among our own people that our government cannot make its faith equivalent to the intrinsic value, nor keep inferior money on a parity with superior money by its own independent efforts, has resulted in such a lack of confidence at home in the stability of currency values that capital refuses its aid to new enterprises, while millions are actually withdrawn from the channels of trade and commerce to become idle and unproductive in the hands of timid owners.

Foreign investors are equally alert, not only to decline to purchase American securities, but make haste to sacrifice those which they already have.

It does not meet the situation to say that apprehension in regard to the future of our finances are groundless, and that there is no reason for the lack of confidence in purpose or power of the government in promises. The very existence of this apprehension and lack of confidence, however, has caused is as a menace which ought not for a moment to be disregarded.

Possibly if the undertaking we have in hand were the maintenance of a specific and known quantity of silver at a parity with gold, our ability to do so might be estimated and gauged; and, perhaps, in view of our unparalleled growth and resources it might be favorably passed upon.

But when our avowed endeavor is to maintain such a parity in regard to the amount of silver, increasing at the ratio of $50,000,000 yearly, with no fixed termination to such increase, it can hardly be said that a problem is presented, the whole solution is free from doubt. The people of the United States are entitled to

A SOUND AND STABLE CURRENCY,

And to the money recognized as such on every exchange and in every market of the world, their government has no right to injure them by financial experiments opposed to the policy and practice of other civilized states; nor is it justified in permitting an exaggerated and unreasonable alliance on our national strength and ability to jeopardize the soundness of the people's money.

This matter rises above the plane of party politics. It vitally concerns every business and calling and enters every household in the land.

There is one important aspect of the subject which especially should never be overlooked at a time like the present, when the evils of unsound finance threaten us. A speculator may anticipate the harvest gathered from the misfortune of others. A capitalist may protect himself by hoarding or may even find a profit in the fluctuation of values; but the wage-earner is the first to be injured by a depreciated currency and the last to receive the benefit of its correction and is practically defenseless. He relies for work upon the ventures of confident and contented capital. This failing him, his condition is without alleviation, for he can neither prey on the misfortunes of others nor hoard his labor.

One of the greatest statesmen the country has known, speaking more than fifty years ago, when the derangement of the currency had caused commercial distress, said: "The very man of all others who has the deepest interest in a sound currency and who suffers by mischevious legislation in monetary matters is the man wh earns his daily bread by his daily toil."

These words are as pertinent now as on the day they were uttered, and ought to impressively remind us that failure in the discharge of our duty at this time must especially injure those of our countrymen who labor, and who, because of their number and condition, are entitled to the most watchful care of their government.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF NECESSARY.

It is of the utmost importance that such relief as congress can afford in the existing situation be afforded at once. The maxim that "he has given twice who gives quickly" is directly applicable. It may be true that the embarassments from which the business of the country is suffering arise as much from evils apprehended as from those actually existing. We may hope, too, that calmness will prevail and that neither capitalists nor wage-earners will give way to unreasoning panic and sacrifice their property or their interests under the influence of exaggerated fears.

Nevertheless every day's delay in removing one of the plain and principal causes of the present state of things enlarges the mischief already done and increases the responsibility of the government for its existence.

Whatever else the people have a right to expect from congress, and they may certainly demand that legislation, condemned by the ordeal of three years' disastrous experience, shall be removed from the statute books as soon as their representatives can legitimately deal with it.

TARIFF REFORM.

It was my purpose to summon congress in special session early in September, that we might enter promptly upon the work of tariff reform, which the true interests of the country clearly demand, which so large a majority of the people as shown by their suffrages desire and expect, and to the accomplishment of which every effort of the present administration is pledged; but, while tariff reform has lost nothing of its immediate and permanent importance, and must in the near future engage the attention of congress, it has seemed to me that the financial condition of the country should at once, and before all subjects, be considered by your honorable body.

REPEAL OF THE SHERMAN LAW.

I earnestly recommend the prompt repeal of the provisions of the act passed July 14, 1890, authorizing the purchase of silver bullion and that other legislative action may put beyond all doubt or mistake the intention or ability of the government to fulfill its pecuniary obligations in the money universally recognized by all civilized countries.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, August 7, 1893.

WHY IS THIS?

A Number of Students Going to Napa College.

Yesterday Frank Douglas of Reno, John Longabaugh of Empire, Will Woodbury of Empire, Will Doane of Carson and Miss Gerreit of Carson, left for Napa college, California, to attend during the ensuing term. Last week Chris Diehl of Winnemucca and Frank Short of Glenbrook left to attend the college, and others, so the JOURNAL is informed, are to follow later.

Why is this so? We have a state university here which ought to be at least the equal of Napa as an educational institution in every respect. Would it be out of place for the regents of the university to inquire why so many Nevadans prefer Napa college to the university of their own state?

"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure." ④

Trials of a Kentucky Minister.

In speaking of a well known minister who was until not very long ago pastor of a large congregation in this city, a member of that church said yesterday: "Few people knew what he suffered. He was the nearest approach to Job that I ever saw. The newspapers might have had a great sensation out of one of his trials. Though one of the best known preachers in Louisville, considering his stay here, his wife was a morphine eater. On one occasion when he had to go to church to marry a young pair his wife locked him in his room. He finally succeeded in climbing through the transom and arrived at the altar after keeping every one waiting for nearly half an hour.

"She often locked him up to try to keep him from preaching, and her treatment of him was often too inhuman to be described. Yet with all that a complaint never left his lips, and he performed his religious duties under a mental agony that few are called on to fear. She took an active part in the church societies, and not until about the time of their departure was her terrible habit known outside the family. Her children were often beaten like animals. I know these things to be facts, and if the name were divulged it would thrill the city with astonishment."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Dvorak Awakens the Musical World.

Dr. Dvorak's bold declaration that the negro melodies of America are to be the foundation of a great national school of music ranging through every stage of the art, from ballads to symphonies and oratorios, has aroused the musicians of Europe. The Commercial cable brings us an interview with Ernest Reyer, the distinguished French composer. He says that the negro melodies, even if they do not serve as the actual basis of the coming American school, will determine its character.

The presence of the great Bohemian master in this country is a blessing to art. And it is a remarkable thing that, at the very moment Rubinstein, Richter, Joachim and other famous musicians were discussing Dr. Dvorak's discovery with correspondents in Europe, the composer himself was writing the gratifying announcement that he had just finished a new symphony reflecting all through it the negro melodies of the western world. —New York Herald.

Sheep Shearing In New York.

They are shearing the sheep in Central park, and a good sized job it has turned out to be. There are about 80 ewes and as many lambs besides the two or three rams. All of the flock are Southdowns of the purest breed, and their wool, averaging from six to eight pounds a fleece, is very fine and of more value than that of the ordinary sheep.

Shepherd Conway and his sheep dog are attending the sheep and lambs on the green, while three or four professional sheep shearers are at work on the rest of the flock at the sheepfold. As fast as an animal has been shorn it is turned out to pasture with the lambs and rams, and the contrast between the thin, white appearance of the shorn sheep and the thick, brown fleeces of the rams and lambs is an interesting sight. — New York Letter.

Closing With a Hymn.

Secretary Hoke Smith recently attended a semiprivate dinner in Washington and was called upon for a speech. Quite a number of newspaper men were present, and Mr. Smith concluded his remarks with an appeal to them to stand by the administration and stop criticising it. His remarks were pitched in a strong religious strain. When Mr. Smith sat down, the gentleman who was presiding at the dinner said with a perfectly grave face, "The choir will now sing 'I Want to Be an Angel.'"—Washington Letter.

Reduced Immigration.

The total immigration to the United States during the 10 months ended April 30, 1893, was 334,825—a decline of 119,133 from the immigration of the corresponding 10 months of the previous year. Emigration from Russia and Poland shows the greatest decline in this period, having fallen from 94,099 to 33,978. There is a very slight decline in the arrivals from Great Britain and Ireland, but the tide of emigration from Italy shows no abatement.—Charleston News and Courier.

Hawthorne In a Bean Pot.

The story goes that a few weeks ago an auctioneer near Lewiston, Me., put up an old bean pot, and having no bids knocked it down to himself for 10 cents. Inside he found a copy of Hawthorne's "Fanshawe," the original edition. He remembered seeing in a Boston paper that a copy of this book had recently been sold for $131.50. He wrote to a Boston dealer, who offered him $100 for his find, which he took. It is said he might have got more.—Philadelphia Press.

Endurance of a Young Russian Woman.

Last winter a Russian girl of 17, giving way to fatigue, fell down asleep by the road, and when she awoke found herself buried so deeply in snow that escape was impossible.

Fifty-one days later she was still found breathing and was brought successfully back to life.

During all this time the poor girl had to eat only some crusts of bread that happened to be in her pocket.—Courrier des Etats-Unis.

The Everlasting "Why."

There is an ocean of the unfathomable in every raindrop, and God says today as he said in the time of Job, "If you cannot understand one drop of rain, do not be surprised if my dealings with you are inexplicable." Why does that aged man, decrepit, beggared, vicious, sick of the world and the world sick of him, live on, while here is a man in midlife, consecrated to God, hardworking, useful in every respect, who dies? Why does that old gossip, gadding along the street about everybody's business but her own, have such good health, while the Christian mother with a flock of little ones about her whom she is preparing for usefulness and for heaven—the mother who you think could not be spared an hour from that household—why does she lie down and die with a cancer? Why does that man, selfish to the core, go on adding fortune to fortune, consuming everything on himself, continue to prosper, while that man who has been giving 10 per cent of all his income to God and the church goes into bankruptcy? Before we make stark fools of ourselves let us stop pressing this everlasting "why." —Dr. Talmage in Ladies' Home Journal.

Asking the Wrong Party.

"Some of you," said a political orator, "remind me of Johnny Bizirn, who undertook to break the yearling bull, and to make sure he did not get away tied the rope around his waist. The breaking process angered the yearling, and he split a crack in the atmosphere toward the swamp. Johnny only hit the ground in the high places. In their mad career they passed a neighbor, who yelled to John. 'Where are you going?' 'Blanked if I know,' he replied as he sailed through the air. 'Ask the bull.'"—Northwest Magazine.

Noah Left the Ark on April 29.

Saturday, April 29, is the day marked in all ancient calendars as being the one on which Noah and his family quitted the ark after having withstood the siege of the great deluge. The day is marked in all ancient calendars, especially British, as egressus Noae de arca; the 17th of March, the day upon which Noah, his family and their great floating collection of natural history specimens set sail, being designated in the same class of early printed literature as introitus Noae in arca, "the day of Noah's entrance into the ark." Why these days were chosen as the ones upon which the supposed embarkation and debarkation were made are enigmas which the antiquarians have not yet solved. — St. Louis Republic.

Women and Comic Papers.

A man said the other day that in riding out and in daily on a suburban train for years he had never yet seen a woman buy one of the comic weeklies, though they sold by dozens to the men travelers.

It would be interesting to know what kink is missing from the female mentality which deprives her of this boon, for it is nothing short of a boon to be able to see the funny side of life It helps over many hard places and lubricates many creaking joints in domestic machinery.—New York Times

A Mighty Deed.

The Rev. Mr. Lanks (solemnly)—My young friend, are you not aware that a youth who smokes cigarettes will never accomplish anything in life?

Young Jackey Napes—Aw, don't fool yourself! I set fire to a theater with a cigarette once and burned up an entire "Uncle Tom's Cabin" troop.—Brooklyn Life.

A tired woman, just as much so as a sick and ailing one, needs Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. That builds up strengthens and invigorates the entire female system. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength.

It is a powerful restorative and strengthening nervine, made especially for woman's needs and the only guaranteed remedy for woman's weaknesses and ailments. In all female complaints and irregularities, if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded.

RULES AND CONDITIONS.

Races begin at 1 o'clock sharp P. M.

Dial clock indicates the time each race starts.

Thirty minutes between races.

Signals—Bell call denotes to saddle. Bugle calls the horses to post.

The bugle call will be precisely five minutes after the saddle call.

Owners, trainers, jockeys or others having care of the animal, that do not send the horse out promptly at post signal will be fined.

Nominations to all stakes must be made to the Secretary on or before the 1st day of September, 1893.

Entries for the running purses must be made two days preceding the race, before 6 o'clock P. M.

Those who have nominated in stakes must name to the Secretary in writing which they will start the day before the race at 6 P. M.

Horses entered in purses can only be drawn by consent of the judges.

In making entries for purse races, the name, age and sex of the horse, and the weight and colors of the rider must be given. After a horse has run once at the meeting, the name of the horse, with the weight to be carried at the race is sufficient.

In purses and stakes, three horses of different interests to enter and start or the race may be declared off by the executive committee.

In all free for all running races, except handicaps, and where other stipulated conditions do not conflict with this rule, all horses that have not won before September 1st, will be allowed ten pounds, and all horses that have won prior to September 1st shall carry five pounds over scale weight.

Ten per cent. entrance to all races unless the conditions otherwise stipulate, and must be paid prior to weighing the jockey out.

Where there is more than one entry by one person, or in one interest, the particular horse they are to start must be named by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race.

No added money paid for a walk-over.

Entries to all Trotting and Pacing races close September 1st with the Secretary.

All Trotting and Pacing purses divided at the rate of 50, 30 and 10 per cent.

All Trotting and Pacing races are the best three in five, unless otherwise specified; five or more to enter and three or more to start, but the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than five to fill, by the withdrawal of a proportionate amount of the purse, which shall be divided pro rata.

In all two in three races horses not winning one heat in two must go to the stable; and in all three in five races horses not winning one heat in three must go to the stable.

The Board reserves the right to trot heats of any two classes alternately if necessary to finish any day's racing, or to trot a special race between heats.

When less than the required number of starters appear they may contest for the entrance money, to be divided as follows 66⅔ to the first and 33⅓ to the second.

In dividing purses no horse shall receive more than one money.

At the discretion of the Board, and without notice, the entries of any person may be refused.

Every person subscribing to a sweepstake, or entering a horse in a running race, under these conditions, accepts the decision of the Board of Directors on any question relating to a race or racing.

National Trotting Association rules to govern trotting races. Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association rules to govern all running races where they do not conflict with these conditions.

All entries must be addressed to C. H. Stoddard, Reno, Nevada.

W. O. H. MARTIN, President.
C. H. STODDARD, Secretary.
